Monthly Shipping List NOTES

July 2008 (282 titles, 861 items)

Here is the history of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette art museum. Originally named Art Center for Southwestern Louisiana (housed in the A. Hays Town building at Southwestern Louisiana University); name changed to University Art Museum; new, separate building opened in 2004 named the Paul and Lulu Hilliard University Art Museum.

Louisiana Monthly Climate Review, LSU, Dept. of Geography and Anthropology, Office of State Climatology, EL 41.7: date, ceased with Feb 2003 issue. Nothing replaces it.

For catalogers: From 1952 through 1974, The Dept of State Civil Service was officially named Dept of Civil Service. The State Library has corrected all catalog records 1975- to agency name = Department of State Civil Service.

1940 – Department of State Civil Service:

The 1921 Constitution was amended in 1940 to adopt legislative provisions of Act 172 of 1940, relative to state civil service. In this legislation, the department is named the Department of State Civil Service.

1952 – Department of Civil Service:

The 1921 Constitution is amended again when voters approve language in Act 18 of 1952, relative to state civil service. In this legislation, the department is named the Department of Civil Service.

The 1974 Constitution is ratified and Article 10 instructs the legislature to create a “Department of State Civil Service”

1975 – Department of State Civil Service:

The legislature fulfills its mandate and reorganizes state government with Act 720 of 1975. In this legislation, the department is named Department of State Civil Service.

This name for the department continues to this day.
