Emergency preparedness

TBBL received Braille copies of the emergency preparedness booklet, Preparing Makes Sense—for People with Disabilities, Others with Access and Functional Needs and the Whole Community, from the Department of Homeland Security Federal Emergency Management Administration. If you would like a copy, call your reader adviser.

Only one digital player

We recently sent notices to patrons who have more than one digital player. If you received a replacement player, you must return the one that needs repair. If you were sent more than one player by mistake, you must return one of the players. And last, players must be returned if you no longer want the service. If you have questions or concerns about how to return the extra player, call your reader adviser.

Three videos about TBBL services

The National Library Service has created three short videos on the benefits of NLS services. These videos cover new services and are recommended for current users and friends and family.

The first video covers the benefits of receiving free Braille and talking books, magazines and music materials in the mail. The second video introduces the NLS BARD and BARD Mobile services. The third video shows patrons speaking about the benefits of receiving free audio, Braille and large-print music scores, texts, and other instructional materials and recordings in the mail or downloading them through BARD.

These videos are on the State Library's website at www.state.lib.la.us. Find the Talking Books & Braille heading. Then choose Videos about TBBL Services.

Magazines on cartridge

In February, the National Library Service increased the loan period on magazines circulated on cartridge to allow subscribers more time to enjoy their publications.

The loan period for weekly cartridges (those containing weekly magazines only) has increased from one week to three weeks and the loan period for monthly cartridges (those containing monthly and weekly magazines) has increased from four to seven weeks.

Remember to return your magazines on cartridge promptly when you are finished; otherwise your subscriptions will be canceled.

Adult Summer Reading Program

The Adult Summer Reading Program started in May, but it is not too late to sign up. If you complete the program by reading 20 books or more, you will be entered into a drawing to win a free set of headphones to use with the NLS Digital Book Player. Fifty names will be drawn. The program ends on August 31. Call your reader adviser today to sign up!

Downloading your favorite series from BARD

To find all the books on BARD that are in a particular series:

Start by searching for keywords that can help you find at least one book in the series. Keywords can be the author's name, consecutive words from the title of a book in the series or consecutive words from the series title. If you enter an author's name, type the last name followed by a comma, then first name. Put titles or series titles in quotes.

On the results page, look for the books you want. To see only the books in the series, select one of the titles from the series. This opens a page with details about that book.

Use your screen reader's search command to find the word "Series" on this page. Following that word is a link to the series. All of the books in the series that are available from BARD should be listed on that page, making it easy to download the ones you want.

Note that not all series are listed, and it is possible that not all books from a series will be listed on the series page. Over time, series information should become more complete.

For assistance, call your reader advisor.
